Serial killers strike without mercy or remorse. What makes them tick? What drives them to kill? A no-nonsense former US Police Captain alongside a renowned British Forensic Psychologist re-examine the case-files of some of the world's most infamous serial killers. Our psychologist will analyze the serial killer's twisted mind, while our tough-as-nails cop offers insight into the men and woman who hunt them down.

Together, they'll give the viewer a new understanding of what causes certain dark souls to kill in the cruelest ways.

A 2nd season is currently in development
